

About the Book

The word 'China' evokes mixed feelings of awe, anger, admiration and fear in all of us. China suffered a century of humiliation but then developed very fast in the last 50 years. Today, it is on the cusp of becoming a superpower. In no time, it has built skyscrapers, big dams, smart cities and has flooded the world with its 'Made in China' products. Its aggressive behaviour and opaque society is an enigma to many.

This book examines the major events that unfolded in China in last hundred years. It focuses primarily on the policies adopted by its leaders Mao Zedong, Deng Xiaoping and Xi Jinping. They help us to understand the psyche of Chinese leaders and the reasons for the rapid rise of China. The book has been written in a simple and lucid language for a wide audience.
